No Paper Next Week.

It has been customary for country newspapers not to publish a paper on Fourth of July week and we have no desire to disregard the custom, hence will not issue a paper next week. This will give the printers a chance to escape from their labors for a few days. The office will be opened part of the time, if not all the time, to do job work and receive subscriptions or any other money that is due this office.

The Ridgway Democrat wants to know how it is that often times those who do not take the home paper are conversant with all the items therein? That is easily explained, Bro. Dixon.

There is some talk of building a band stand in town. The vacant lot corner of Main and Fifth streets has been spoken of. Mr. S. B. Elliott wants to head the list with twenty-five dollars.

Some person picked the lock on D. B. Stauffer's store in West Reynoldsville last Friday night and helped himself to a good supply of chewing gum, smoking tobacco and some cheese. Suspicion rests on a youth of that borough.

A band of Gypsies camped within a mile of Reynoldsville last week. One old lady accompanied by a large girl and two or three little children visited the town one evening and the old lady said she was a widow and told a very pitiable story to get the sympathy of the people and then beg for money, clothing or anything the people felt like giving. This old hag belonged to the Gypsy band and was only working an old racket to get help.

The Woman's Relief Corps is made up of kind hearted ladies who, if given an opportunity, will show their appreciation of things in some way. These ladies were so well pleased about the Keystone band winning the first prize at DuBois that they decided to give the boys a treat. The band was invited to meet at the home of the president of the W. R. C., Mrs. Wm. Barkley, last evening where the Corps ladies furnished them with ice cream and cake.

We mentioned last week that a special election would be held in West Reynoldsville July 7th to vote for or against water. For some reason the election will not be held at that time. We have been asked where we received the information concerning the special election. The information was gleaned from an ordinance passed by the town council of West Reynoldsville at its last regular meeting and was signed by the Burgess of the same borough.

The Keystone band, of Reynoldsville is an organization of which any town might feel proud. Their playing yesterday, both in the contest and on the street, was a surprise to people who have not heard them within a year. Having scored 56 points out of a possible 60 is a record that indicates almost perfect playing. The Prescotville band, which also practically belongs to Reynoldsville, is also an organization that is above the average. The band succeeded in taking fourth prize in a contest where excellent playing was required to take anything; there are few towns that can boast of two bands the equal of either the Keystone or the Prescotville, and the Courier congratulates the bands and the people of their homes upon having succeeded in carrying away the first and fourth prizes of the tournament of 1894.—DuBois Courier.

Too Much Curve.

Harry Martin, a sixteen year old chap, was doing the fancy work in the pitcher's box for the Snydertown base ball nine last Wednesday and in getting a "dandy curve" on the ball he twisted his right arm and broke it.

Soaking Hides.

The tannery at this place began soaking hides last week. Since starting up with the new tannery hides that had been put in before the fire have been finished and now they commence with new hides. Before the fire three hundred hides a day was the number used and now they are putting in only one hundred a day.

Hogs Trespasped.

Mrs. F. E. Hannah and David Leech both live near Rathmel at what is known as "Skunk Hollow." Mrs. Hannah owns a potato patch and Leech owns a few swine. The swine trespassed on the potato patch and done considerable damage. The owner of the potatoes sued the owner of the hogs for $200.00 damage. The case was tried before Squire Neff Friday forenoon. Thirteen witnesses were sworn on the case. The owner of the hogs lost the suit and had to pay ten dollars and costs. When the plaintiff was on the witness stand she put her loss at twenty-five dollars.

An Old Settler.

Hugh Cooper, brother of our townsman, Ninian Cooper, died at the home of his brother, James, in Beechwoods at 5.00 A. M. yesterday. The deceased celebrated his 73rd birthday several weeks ago. He was a bachelor and was one of the old settlers of the Beechwoods. He seemed to be worn out in life's battle and died from old age. His funeral will be held at the home of his brother, James Cooper, this afternoon and his remains will be buried in the Beechwoods cemetery. Rev. Geo. R. Hill will conduct the services. The deceased was a great bible student, in fact his reading was confined to the bible.

Democrat Ticket.

The Democratic primaries at Reynoldsville and surrounding precincts Saturday was not very exciting. The only ticket voted here was for Jury Commissioner and committeemen. Dr. J. B. Neale drove a hack to and from the voting place until he got quite a number of Democrats to vote. The county convention was held at Brookville Monday afternoon and the following ticket was nominated: For Congress, Wm. Fairman, of Punxsutawney; Assemblyman, F. M. Bowman, of Clayville; District Attorney, Wm. L. McCracken, of Brookville; Jury Commissioner, C. C. Brown, of Oliver township. B. H. Whitehill, of Falls Creek, was elected county chairman.

Malitia in Jeff. Co.

About 1000 malitia men are now encamping at the various mines near Punxsutawney. The soldiers were taken into that section last Friday. Barring two or three little outbreaks everything has been quiet at Adrian and Walston since the soldiers appeared. Sixty new men were shipped into Walston Monday with the understanding that new mines were being opened and that they could make big wages. When the men arrived at Walston and found out the true condition of affairs they refused to work and were soon making arrangements to return to Buffalo from whence they came. It is claimed that a few men are working at Anita who do not want to work but are compelled to work.

A Surprise.

Rev. J. C. McEntire, of West Reynoldsville, is a member of the P. O. S. of A. Commandery at DuBois, and last Thursday being his birthday the Commandery decided to show their appreciation of him as a member and so eight or ten members of the lodge drove to this place on the evening mentioned and brought a handsome and valuable chair with them for a birthday present for Mr. McEntire. The DuBois party had written to Jasper McEntire that they were coming and he and his wife made ice cream and cake, but did not hint to J. C. or his family about the matter, and they were just about ready to retire when the party invaded his home. Mr. McEntire was greatly pleased with the present and kind feeling its coming expressed.

Baby in a Basket.

It is not an uncommon thing to read in the daily papers of babies being mysteriously left at somebody's door, but it is a rare thing to happen in our own town. However, we can now give our readers such a case. Last Friday night about eleven o'clock Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kerr were awakened by a loud rap at their front door. Mrs. Kerr thought some of the neighbors were sick and wanted her assistance, as she had been called upon frequently before. When Mrs. Kerr opened the door there was no one to be seen. A basket was on the porch and Mrs. Kerr still thought there was some person about and she looked around the house, but could not see anybody. She picked up the basket and was surprised when she opened it to see a little girl baby two or three days old lying in the basket. The baby was dressed and an extra dress had been put in the basket with it.

"Jim Dandy" Bands.

For some time we have been blowing about the Keystone band being an organization that the town has reason to be proud of, and the boys proved last Thursday that such praise was not all wind by any means, when they covered themselves with glory by winning the first prize at the band tournament at DuBois, and they had excellent bands to compete with. The piece they played for the prize was an overture entitled "The Champion." The band was met at the 8.42 train Thursday evening on their return from DuBois by a large crowd of citizens and were escorted up Main street amid cheers and red lights burning at various places on the street. The people were as anxious to see the band after the victory they won as they are to see a bride and groom make their first appearance. The Keystone boys have no uniforms, which they should have by all means, and it is said when they stepped up to take their turn in the contest and Richard Ramsey, the leader, took off his coat and threw it onto the ground that some people who did not know the band began to "guy" them as a buckwheat band, but the boys knew how to play a piece good enough to win first prize that none of the eight bands in the contest could play. You can't always sometimes tell by the looks of a band how far it can hop. The Keystone was composed of just as fine looking men as any band at the tournament, but they did not wear uniforms.

While the Keystone is being praised for its fine music it should not be forgotten that the Prescotville band has few superiors in this section as a musical organization, and that it was only by an accident that this band did not come in for a larger prize than the fourth prize which they won. When this band was playing the contesting piece there was one part to be played by one horn only and at this particular point the horn, on account of the heat and dust, refused to perform its work as it should have done and the Prescotville band lost a number of points there.

Won High Honors.

Through the ability of two of our young people and the Keystone and Prescotville bands Reynoldsville received honors last week that we are not ashamed of. On Tuesday, June 19th, Miss Gertrude Farrell graduated from the St. Elizabeth Academy at Allegany, N. Y., with the highest honors of the graduating class resting upon her. There were about one hundred and fifty graduates who came from all parts of the United States, and yet one of Reynoldsville's handsome young ladies stood at the head of the class. Miss Farrell's education is not confined to books, music and drawing only, but she can manage the culinary department of a house to suit the most fastidious epicurean, for which, however, her mother deserves credit. There are too many girls in our land to-day who can daub a little paint on canvas or thump a piano to themselves or any person else. Miss Farrell wears a gold medal that was placed upon her by Monsignor Satoli.

On June 20th Edward Driscoll graduated from the St. Bonaventure College, Allegany, N. Y., with the highest honors of that institution resting upon him. This school, like the St. Elizabeth Academy, is filled with young men from all parts of the country, but Edward was too much for any or all of them and he stood at the head. Edward also received a gold medal from the hands of Monsignor Satoli. Edward is an orphan and we are glad he has proven his ability to master the books of a large college.

On Thursday the Keystone band won the first prize at the band contest at DuBois and the Prescotville band won the fourth prize.

W. W. Ford Dead.

William Wallace Ford, son of John Ford, died at his home on Grant street about five o'clock Monday evening from gangrene, superinduced by heart trouble, after intense suffering for three weeks. The deceased was confined to the house for over six weeks. Over a week before death gangrene set in on his left foot. Mr. Ford was 49 years old. He was married to Elizabeth Ehaman, daughter of Wm. Ehaman, at Brookville twenty-seven years ago last week. Eleven children were born unto them, four boys and three girls are living and four children preceeded the father into the Great Beyond. Mr. Ford moved to Reynoldsville about fifteen years ago. He was one of the Justices of the Peace of this borough, having been elected by the Republicans several years ago. He has followed coal mining for a number of years. The funeral services will be held in the Presbyterian church at 9.00 o'clock this morning, Rev. Jas. H. Jelbart will conduct the services. The deceased was a member of the P. O. S. of A., O. U. A. M., K. of P., Rodmen, G. A. R. and one or two other lodges. Most all the lodges will attend the funeral in a body.

Drowned Saturday.

James Hadden, nine year old son of David Hadden, of Iowa Mills, was drowned in the dam at that place last Saturday while in bathing. His remains were buried in the Moore cemetery at Emersville Sunday evening. Rev. Jas. H. Jelbart conducted the funeral services.

THE STRIKE SETTLED.

SOME CONCESSION MADE ON MACHINE MINING.

Citizens Petition the Company—Miners will go to work Thursday.

We stated last week that the Bell, Lewis & Yates C. M. Co. had offered the miners a compromise of 40 cents for mining coal, but that they had not accepted this because it was not a compromise on the scale presented to the company, as nothing was said about that part of the scale concerning the machine mining. As near as we can learn from men whose word we do not doubt, the truth of the case, notwithstanding any statements to the contrary, is about as follows: Before the strike the company could get machine coal out for 25 cents a ton while the picked coal cost them 35 cents, and the result was the iron men got all the cars they could load and the miners got a car when there was any left. Miners have gone to work in the morning and waited until away along in the afternoon and some times all day to get a car. Certain statements were made in town which were misleading and the miners issued the following circular last Wednesday afternoon to place them in the true light before the citizens of Reynoldsville and vicinity:

REYNOLDSVILLE, PA., June 20.

A false phase has been brought down upon us as miners, as we have shown a determination not to accept the compromise offered us by our respective company, because we consider that the conditions offered us are not what we term a compromise of our demands presented to our employers.

The bone of contention between us and our employers at present is centered on the low price paid for machine mining. Such work being done under contract, men employed in loading coal for contractors receiving the nominal sum of 10 cents per ton for loading, they have the privilege of what we term the "free click system," which means that they get all the cars they can load irrespective of what the pick miners get, if that should be none.

We do this in order to explain to the public that such statements made by officials of our Company are altogether one-sided and misleading. The greater portion of those employed in machine mining are Italians and Poles. It is well known to the public that the soulless corporations of this country are responsible for those people being in our communities and it is our aim and object, seeing that these people are now in our midst and the laws of our country protecting them, to treat them with kindness, educate them to their interests and extend to them the right hand of fellowship. The day is not far distant when these people will cease to be tools for corporate greed. We at present stand ready and willing to explain to the citizens and business men of our community, who have so liberally contributed toward our support during our conflict for living wages, to whom we are extremely thankful for the kindness they have extended to us and to whom we hope to be able to make a just return in the future.

These statements are the unanimous expressions of the miners of Reynoldsville. The men in meeting on the 19th resolved to stand firm until victory is won.

COMMITTEE.

It will be seen by the above statement that the trouble now existing between the men and the company is about the machine work. The men ask that an increase of wages be paid for machine mining and that the pick men get their turn of cars with the iron men. Even at 40 cents the miners can hardly make a living for themselves and families because they would not get the cars to load and, hence, they are not willing to go to work unless the matter is settled satisfactorily. There are a large number of men here who belong to the United Mine Workers of America, but many men outside of this organization are just as determined as those in it to stand firm for their rights.

The citizens of Reynoldsville become anxious to see an adjustment of the trouble between the company and men, and to give expression to that desire the following petition was signed by all the business men of our town, with the exception of three or four:

Bell, Lewis & Yates Coal Mining Co. or their Representatives, Greeting:

As more than two thirds of the operators and employees have met and adjusted the scale of wages in accordance with the conclusions arrived at at Columbus, Monday, June 11th, we, the undersigned citizens of Reynoldsville, feeling that our interests are largely bound up with both employer and employees and desirous of having an amicable settlement arrived at, do respectfully petition the Bell, Lewis & Yates Coal Mining Co., or their representatives to meet a committee of their employees and in that spirit of fairness that has always characterized your dealings while operating this territory amicably adjust the differences that seem to exist at the present time. We believe the company ought to make some concessions to retain the class of miners now in their employ, as no better class of men can be found anywhere in the country; and furthermore, if a settlement is made on the basis of the compromise reached at Columbus, including an adjustment of the wages paid all kinds of labor, it will in our judgment be permanent.

This petition was presented to Gen'l Manager Elliott on Friday evening by J. Van Reed and H. Alex. Stoke. Mr. Elliott agreed to meet a committee from the miners and a citizen's committee on Saturday evening to try and make a settlement. The miners held a mass meeting near Fuller's watering trough at 2.00 P. M. Saturday and appointed John Cottle, T. J. White and Aaron Richards as the committee to meet Mr. Elliott. The citizen's committee was Dr. S. Reynolds, H. Alex. Stoke and Jacob Sutter. The committee (Continued on fourth page.)

This is an opportunity for our young people to take lessons of a professional teacher at home. There should be a large class raised in this town for the summer vacation.
